School athletics. Thanks to the team for re-organising the carnival and to all the other teachers who are flexible and adaptable to ensure that all of our students get all the opportunities that we can provide. The students had a great afternoon last Friday doing the field events and are competing in the track events today.

The presentation of places will not occur next Monday but will be rescheduled.

Reports. It is that time of year again and I have been reading the reports. The teachers at this school continually impress me with their depth of understanding of the content and skills needed by our students and provide quality teaching to help the children learn. They really know our students both as people and as learners and their care and respect for them shines through. This highly professional team of teachers bring their individual and collective knowledge, skill and wisdom to their work of educating your children.

It has been a pleasure reading the reports which show how well the students in our school are progressing and the provision of teaching to meet their needs. If you would like to clarify any information in your child’s report or have specific questions you would like to ask regarding your child’s progress, speak with your child’s teacher and arrange a time. The reports will go out to parents next Wednesday.

Balgownie values physical activity. We provide two hours physical activity for all students in our schools. Balgownie School has K-6 fitness for two half hour sessions on Monday and Tuesday plus all classes take their children for sport for at least an hour per week. We also encourage activity at lunchtime by providing sport equipment for students to use to play and are active participants in knock out tournaments and carnivals. Obviously, if the weather is bad, this can disrupt our planned sporting activities!

Praise Phrases. Our school subscribes to Parenting Ideas by Michael Grose. He suggests focussing on one statement a day with our children, to praise and encourage them.

- You do a fantastic job of….
- You’re really improving in….
- You can help me by….
- You’re really trying super hard…
- I really appreciate the fact that you…
- You won’t know unless you really try.
- I know you can do this. Don’t give up!
- It’s great to see you love doing….
- Super effort! I love that you are trying so hard.
- So, you made a mistake. What can you do differently next time?
- I know you can figure this out yourself. You know where I am if you need me.

STAGE 1 EXCURSION TO WOLLONGONG BOTANIC GARDENS

On Monday 16th June, Stage 1 attended a wonderful excursion to the Botanic Gardens. This excursion complemented our classroom teaching and learning in Science and HSIE. We participated in a range of exciting activities including, searching for mini beasts of the land, a habitat walk, shelter building and learning about protecting our habitats. Every child was beautifully behaved and everyone had a fantastic day.

Stage 1 Teachers

STAGE 2 CHORAL FESTIVAL REHEARSAL

On Tuesday 17th June, Stage 2 Choir members attended a cluster rehearsal in preparation for our Choral Festival in Week 3, Term 3. As usual, Balgownie students were wonderful in both singing and behaviour. Kalia Spencer was also chosen to perform as a soloist in one of our songs, ‘Ordinary Miracle’. I am sure Kalia and all of the Balgownie students will represent Balgownie Public School very well.

K-2 ATHLETICS CARNIVAL
On Friday our Infants Athletics Carnival will be run on the back oval. The event will begin with the age races before the students participate in rotating tabloid activities. The aim of the day is to encourage fun and participation. Parents, families and friends are invited to attend as spectators. After the event, families may like to stay and share recess with the children. Starting time 12:15pm.

PSSA BASKETBALL
Last Thursday, another exciting game of Balgownie basketball was played out at the Sankepit when our senior girls took on Keiraville Public. All girls worked as a team, with great communication, defence and some spectacular shots dropping in. In a high scoring event, three quarter time arrived with the scores all locked up at 28 all. In the final quarter, Keiraville's experience shone through with the eventual result 45-35 Keiraville's way. Congratulations to all involved. Every girl represented the school proudly, showing respect and having a lot of fun. Thanks goes to parents who assisted with transport and scoring duties. Please ensure all singlets are washed and returned to school.

Congratulations to Chloe Heyman who recently competed in the Wollongong Eisteddfod and came first in the “Country Music Solo 12yrs and under” section. Well done.

Have a great week.

Aloma Stewart

Reading your child’s report

Reports can mean anxious times for children. Will my parents be disappointed or proud? This is the main concern of most children.

Could try harder . . . always does her best . . . lacks concentration . . . easily distracted . . . a pleasure to teach . . . Do these comments, taken from a batch of student reports sound familiar?

Student reports bring mixed feelings for parents. Pleasure and pride if they are performing well but considerable angst when children are not progressing as you hoped.

Reports can mean anxious times for children too. Will my parents be disappointed or proud? This is the main concern of most children. Kids of all ages take their cues from their parents, so your reaction to their school report can affect the way they see themselves as learners and as people.

Before you rip open the sealed envelope containing the report do a little self-check to see if you are in the right frame of mind:

1. Are your expectations for your son or daughter realistic and in line with their ability?
   Expectations are tricky. If they are too high then kids can be turned off learning. Too low and there is nothing to strive for. Pitch your expectations in line with your child’s abilities. A quick check of your child’s last report cards may provide you with a good yardstick.

2. Do you believe that children learn at different rates?
   There are slow bloomers, late developers and steady-as-you-go kids in every classroom, so avoid comparing your child to siblings, your friends’ children and even yourself when you were a child. Instead look for individual progress.

3. Are you willing to safeguard your child’s self-esteem rather than deflate it?
   Self-confidence is a pre-requisite for learning, so be prepared to be as positive and encouraging as possible. School reports come in different formats. Some are prescriptive while some use grading systems such as A, B, C, etc. with room for teacher comments. Regardless of the format school reports should provide you with an idea of your child’s progress in all subject areas, their attitude and social development.

Here are some ideas to consider when you open your child’s report:

Focus on strengths
Do you look for strengths or weaknesses first? The challenge is to focus on strengths even if they are not in the traditional 3Rs or core subjects.

Take into account your child’s effort and attitude to learning. If the report indicates that effort is below standard, then you have something to work on. If your child is putting in the required effort, then you cannot ask any more than that, regardless of the grading.

Broaden your focus away from academic performance to form a picture of your child’s progress as a member of a social setting. How your child gets along with his or her peers will influence his happiness and well-being, as well as give an indicator to his future. The skills of independence and co-operation are highly valued by employers so don’t dismiss these as unimportant.

Take note of student self-assessment
Kids are generally very honest and will give a realistic assessment of their progress. They are generally very perceptive so take note of their opinions.

Discuss the report with your son or daughter talking about strengths first before looking at areas that need improvement. Ask for their opinion about how they performed and discuss their concerns.

After reports are read and discussed celebrate your child’s efforts with a special activity or treat. In this way you will recognise progress and remind them that the holidays are just around the corner when they can forget about assessment, tests and reports for a while.
